Graduate College

All graduate degree candidates are listed under the college of their academic major.

The Academic Procession

The procession begins with the entrance of the candidates for degrees. Led by faculty marshals, the candidates for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, both the Teaching Program and the Liberal Arts Program, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Liberal Studies, Bachelor of Music, Bachelor of Science and Bachelor of Technology enter in groups, representing each of the undergraduate colleges. They are followed by the candidates for the highest degrees.

The banners which are carried with the candidates' procession were first used in 1977. They were designed by Bekka Lindstrom, at that time a sophomore majoring in Art. The banners were fashioned by Phillip Elliott.

Students wearing a bronze medallion are those graduating summa cum laude (with highest honors), which represent the top three percent of each college by grade point average; or those graduating students receiving a Purple and Old Gold Award, given to those students who have excelled in scholarship or who have shown conspicuous achievement in particular areas.

The procession continues with representatives of the faculty.

The President's Party forms the final section of the academic procession. Headed by the commencement marshal, it includes the president; members of the Board of Regents, state of Iowa; administrative officers; the academic deans; and honored guests.

The commencement marshal carries the University Mace, designed and fashioned for the Centennial Commencement in 1976 by Randall Swanson, at that time a freshman majoring in Industrial Arts. A traditional symbol of authority, the mace is a carved wood rod capped with ends of cast bronze, with the top carrying the seal of the university. The sterling silver chain worn by the president was also created for the Centennial Commencement. It was designed and constructed by Martin Peterson, then a junior majoring in Art, and it memorializes the historical evolution of the university by carrying the seals of the Iowa State Normal School, the Iowa State Teachers College, the State College of Iowa, and the University of Northern Iowa.

The academic costumes worn trace their origin to the Middle Ages when long-sleeved hooded gowns were necessary for warmth in the unheated stone colleges. Over the centuries, much diversity occurred, and to bring some order, in the United States in 1894 an intercollegiate system of academic costume was agreed on, now adhered to by American institutions. According to this code, both the styling and colors of the regalia have significance.

The design of the gown indicates the degree. The bachelor's is a simple gown with a full sleeve. The master's gown is much like it except for the long sleeve which hangs loose. The doctoral gown is fuller and more elaborate. It has velvet edging and three velvet stripes on the full sleeve. The color of this velvet may be black or in the color appropriate to the degree.

Hoods, which are worn over the gowns, are similar for all degrees, although differing slightly in length. The candidates for the bachelor's degrees usually do not wear the hood. The hood has a velvet edging which indicates the area of the degree, and the inside or lining of the hood is satin in the colors of the college or university granting the degree.

A partial list of the degree colors to be found on the edge of the hood or the trimming on the doctoral gown is as follows:

Apricot - Nursing	Drab - Business	Orange - Engineering
Blue, dark - Philosophy	Green - Medicine	Pink - Music
Blue, light - Education	Green Sage - Physical Education	Purple - Law
Brown - Fine Arts	Lemon - Library Science	Scarlet - Theology
Citron - Social Science	Maize - Agriculture	White - Arts and Letters
Copper - Economics	Maroon - Family and Consumer Sciences	Yellow, Golden - Science

Lux Service Award

Since 1984

The University of Northern Iowa Lux Service Award is presented annually to three undergraduate students who best represent the ideal of service to the University community.

The honor is conferred in the spirit of keeping the light of service to others burning bright at UNI. The name of the award – Lux – is from the University's official seal that features a burning lamp of knowledge and the Latin word for light.

The University of Northern Iowa Alumni Association sponsors the award.

Congratulations to the 2008 Lux Service Award Recipients:

Samantha J. Keltner is a History major with a special education minor who hails from Ankeny, Iowa. Samantha's activities include serving as a founding member and president of Connecting Alumni to Students (CATS), a member of the Homecoming Committee, president of Gamma Phi Beta, a Northern Iowa Student Government Senator, and as a member of the Summer Orientation staff.

Jon Buse, UNI Dean of Students, writes of her work in his letter of recommendation, "The common thread of her involvement is that they are all intended to serve others and make the University a better place. As a leader of her peers, Sam brings out the best in those around her. If I were to describe Sam in one word, it would be 'magnet' She always seems to attract a crowd. She is a wonderful person and a fine student leader."

Lipin Loo is a Biotechnology-Honors Research major with a minor in Chemistry from Penang, Malaysia. Lipin has left his mark on UNI through a variety of activities as a student. A top student in his academic department, he is a member of Student Admissions Ambassadors, a premier student volunteer group, promoted cultural understanding through his work with the International Student Association board and has assisted with recruitment activities in his home country.

"Lipin has made many important contributions to our campus and he will continue to proudly represent the University after he leaves," writes Kristi Marchesani, assistant director for Admissions – International Relations.

Kelly Valentin, a Biology major who is also completing the certificate program in Global Health, is from Parkersburg, Iowa. This mother of three (ages 10, 7 and 3) has succeeded in the classroom while being an extremely active volunteer. Kelly's lengthy list of activities includes the UNI Global Health Corps, Health Care Volunteer Services, UNI's Pre-Medical Club, Family & Children's Council of Black Hawk County, and the Misfits Playground. She also coordinated a medical mission to Honduras. Additionally, Kelly established the UNI Pre-Medical Enrichment Project to increase the community service engagement of UNI pre-med students.

"She has inspired and led many UNI students to community service and served as a teacher of human worth and humanitarian commitment," says Pedro Rodriguez, MSW. "She is sure to continue strong advocacy for health in underserved areas. She is clearly proud of the education that she received from the University of Northern Iowa."

Honorary Degree: Nancy Aossey

Nancy Aossey earned a marketing degree in 1982 and an M.B.A. in 1984, both from the University of Northern Iowa. Since then, she has gained national and international recognition for her success as president and CEO of International Medical Corps, a humanitarian organization that provides health care training and relief and development programs worldwide. IMC is often the first responder in disaster situations around the world. By offering training and health care to local populations and medical assistance to people at highest risk, IMC rehabilitates devastated health care and economic systems and helps bring them back to self-reliance.

Ms. Aossey joined IMC in 1986, and has guided the organization from its three-employee beginnings to a $100-million-plus relief organization with more than 4,000 volunteers and staff working in 21 countries. Her success as an executive has been widely recognized by the business community, citing her success in applying an entrepreneurial perspective to reach humanitarian goals. Ms. Aossey has appeared on various television news programs and has been featured in The New York Times, USA Today, the Los Angeles Times and the Los Angeles Business Journal. In 2006, she received the Distinguished Alumni Award from the Center for Creative Leadership and was named Non-Profit CEO of the Year by the Los Angeles Business Journal. This year, she earned the 2007 Distinguished Alumnus Award from the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), an award given to a select few individuals, some at the level of Nobel Laureate.

Under her leadership, IMC has earned a sterling reputation as a charitable organization, receiving commendations worldwide for its programs, staff and fiscal responsibility. IMC has been awarded Charity Navigator's highest Four Star Charity rating and is rated "A+" by the American Institute of Philanthropy. The Better Business Bureau has determined that IMC meets or exceeds its Wise Giving Alliance Standards, a further indication of IMC's respect for its stakeholders and the public. IMC has been featured in Forbes magazine as one of "America's 200 Largest Charities," where it was most recently rated as having 99 percent fundraising efficiency. Worth magazine chose IMC as one of "America's 100 Best Charities" in 2002 and 2003 – the two years the magazine conducted this survey.

Ms. Aossey has also forged a reputation among international policy makers, becoming increasingly influential as an advisor around the globe on issues of humanitarian assistance. She has been a frequent guest at the White House where she has briefed the president, vice president and first lady on humanitarian issues. She has testified before the U.S. Congress, served as chairman of the board of InterAction, America's largest coalition of international relief organizations, and is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations, the Pacific Council on International Policy, and United States Agency for International Development's Advisory Committee on Voluntary Foreign Aid. She is a commissioner for the Women's Commission for Refugee Women and Children and a member of the Young President's Organization.

The granddaughter of Lebanese immigrants, Aossey grew up in Cedar Rapids where service to the community was an ingrained value. After completing her degrees at the University of Northern Iowa, she joined AT&T Information Systems, selling phone networks to small businesses. With a transfer to Fresno, one of Aossey's first priorities was to seek opportunities for service, which quickly led her to leave her industry position to pursue a career with IMC.
